Graduate School Preparation Academy

I applied to the Graduate School Preparation Academy with the goal to get accepted and complete a Master's of Finance at UC San Diego's Rady School of Management. Instructors at the English Language Institute helped me to create the best possible Statement of Purpose and CV, which definitely helped when I applied to Rady. They also offered me good advice on making appointments with professors. I was very lucky to have excellent instructors, like Kelly Smith

Legal English

The Legal English program was extremely important for my career. It prepared me to apply for law school and pursue a master degree in Comparative Law. It really helped me improve my English skills and also provided me with a necessary overview of the most important topics of American Law. I am currently attending the University of San Diego (USD) School of Law and working on my LLM in Comparative Law. After graduation, I plan to sit for the California Bar, so I will be licensed to practice law here.

University and Professional Studies

Going to an American university is very different compared to universities in Europe. I really enjoyed the passion everyone brings to the campus. Every professor and advisor do their best to make your time at UC San Diego the most enjoyable you can have. Whenever you have a concern, there is someone around to help you out with it. You get a general positive feeling from the first second you step on campus.

I have two overarching goals in my academic life. First, I would like to soak in as many cultural influences as possible. The United States was always on my bucket list of countries which I wanted to experience in more detail than just as a tourist. UC San Diego, which is located in one of the greatest cities in the country, gives you the perfect foundation to experience this wonderful country and its culture. Second, I am aiming for a career in business. With the high degree of experience every professor has, they not only taught me the academic side of each subject but also real-world skills that will benefit me in my career.

After finishing my undergraduate degree in my country, I will return to the U.S. for graduate school. I am 100% sure now that it will be worth it.

TEFL Proficiency and TEFL Professional

My favorite part of studying in UC San Diego Division of Extended Studies' TEFL program is that it consists of not only international students but also local students. All the students I met in this program were really motivated and respectful to others. I have discussed tons of different topics with them, which has given me new insight into what education should be like as well as a broader view of life. I was really lucky to choose this program because of this point. The "TEFL Practicum" class has been my most enjoyable experience so far. We created lesson plans each week and gave mini lessons to the other members of a small group. We gave feedback to each other and shared wonderful ideas. DUANE E. BENNETT

United States

UC San Diego Division of Extended Studies
Instructor for Civil Rights Leadership and Tort Law, Former City Attorney for the City of Oceanside, and retired General Counsel for the Port of San Diego

At an early age I became interested in ethnic disparities in my neighborhood compared to others, and recognized that things were much worse for African Americans. I recognized education as a way of progress and becoming an attorney as a method of social change. If nothing else, becoming an attorney empowered me to affect the conditions affecting me and my family. As an African American attorney, I am always disturbed when I observe racism, discrimination and mistreatment of people. The importance of civil rights statutes, due process, and equal protection in eradicating racism, discrimination, and inequality cannot be overstated.

Becoming an attorney empowered me to affect the conditions affecting me and my family.
